

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

A Talk with Ramapough Lenape Chief Dwaine Perry

Wednesday, November 12th, 6 – 8 PM

In collaboration with the Angelo Bellobono exhibition: Before me and after my time

E.R. Butler

55 Prince Street, New York

(November 3, 2014, New York) We are pleased that the opening of Angelo Bellobono's exhibition on Monday drew attendance of four hundred people, underscoring the strong public interest in Angelo's project to build a temporary platform for the Ramapough Lenape Nation in New York City, which aims to document and communicate their cultural heritage and their commitment to environmental preservation.

To reflect on the Lenape's thousands years of history and culture in Manhattan, Angelo, in collaboration with Michela Bondardo, is pleased to invite you to an extraordinary talk with the Ramapough Lenape Chief Dwaine Perry, wednesday, november 12th from 6-8 pm.
